

Training Course 1

An Introduction to the Solvents Industry

A one-day course designed to offer an introduction to all aspects of the solvents industry

Who should attend?

This training course is an introductory course designed for newcomers in the solvents sector and other professionals looking to 'refresh' their knowledge about solvents. This course is useful to those in commercial or administrative areas. The course is purposely kept small to encourage interaction and ensure dynamic discussions. .

16 May 2023

From 10:00 am to 3:30 pm

BASF office
Ludwigshafen | Germany

11 October 2023

From 10:00 am to 4:00 pm

Cefic office
Brussels | Belgium

Fee

The fee for this one-day course (including lunch/drinks & training material) is supported by ESIG for ESIG members and amounts to €250 per session for non-ESIG members. Travel costs are not included in the fee.

REGISTER NOW ONLINE HERE www.esig.org/product-stewardship/training/

Everything you always wanted to know about solvents...this is the place to ask!

Course content

- The history of solvents
- An introduction to Petrochemicals and Solvents
- Where solvents come from
- Types of solvents
- Choosing the right solvent
- Solvent end-uses and applications
- Safety, Health and Environment, legislation, SDS, REACH
- Transport & packaging
- Introduction to Product Stewardship across the Supply Chain
- Interactive sessions

Number of seats are limited, registrations will be taken into account on a first-register basis and final confirmation and details will be sent once payment, if applicable, has been received at our ends.

REGISTER NOW!

For more information, please contact
Hélène Colbach, ESIG
Tel: +32 497 50 00 67 — hco@cefic.be